

HVAC Technician

The work of a HVAC Engineer ranges between a wide aspect of duties. You will be working in a n international marine environment in a team and are responsible that the project implementation will achieve the best possible result.

What you will be doing

- Balancing supply and exhaust air flows on board all different kind of ships.
- Cleaning exhaust air ducts of dust.
- Mount and rebuild ventilation ducts.
- Prepare, create, and maintain project documentation.
- Bring tools that is needed and keep them in order.
- Be a part of a team and engage team members.
- Manage client expectations and day-to-day client interactions on board.
- Report to HVAC Engineer.

What will make you successful

- Knowledge in air flow balancing.
- Knowledge in exhaust duct cleaning
- Mechanical experience.
- Microsoft Office proficient.
- Good oral and written English communications skills.
- Good interpersonal skills: able to maintain solid rapport with team members as well as maintain professionalism with that outside of the department.
- Good organizational, and time management skills.
- Able to thrive in a maritime environment.
- Ability to work both independently and in a team environment.
- Self-motivated.
- Good ability to provide exceptional follow-through and be customer service driven.
- Fully vaccinated, marine medical certificate, passport, drivers licence.
- A positive attitude.

The average travel requirements for this job are 80%-100% annualized in a 1/1 system as a basis.

What we offer

- Competitive Salary
- Flexible working hours and remote work possibility
- Sports and culture benefits
- Good and inspiring working environment
- Location either in Stockholm, Åland or Estonia

Further information about the position:

Christoffer Gustavsson, CEO

Christoffer.gustavsson@emarine.se

+358 40 759 7854

eMarine Engineering Nordic Ab

Seglatsgatan 6

120 62 Stockholm, Sweden

www.emarine.se

info@emarine.se

